The Empowered Advocate: Change the World and Love What You Do Ms. Pamela Jacobs JD

Advocacy is one of the toughest, and most rewarding, professions in the world. You see people at their lowest, and you have the opportunity to see them rising to become their best. You see the invisible and mend the broken. You give people hope and help them find their voice. Advocacy is more than a job – it's a passion. It becomes part of who you are. But as you focus so much energy on empowering survivors, you may have forgotten to empower yourself. You may be starting to feel helpless, frustrated, burned out, unappreciated, and exhausted. If so, this book is for you. This book will help you remember why you got into this work – and why you stayed. It will help you unpack survivors' trauma, as well as your own. It will give you a secret weapon to truly transform the lives of survivors. And most importantly, it will help you feel truly connected to, and empowered by, your work again. The author, Pamela Jacobs, is an attorney and advocate who has worked with survivors for over 15 years, and currently speaks to audiences nationwide about these epidemics. She has been nicknamed "the advocate's advocate" because of her commitment to empowering not only survivors, but also the brave advocates who serve them each and every day. This book is your key to changing the world, and truly loving what you do. It is your reminder that your work matters – and so do YOU.
